Keio Plaza Hotel Tokyo Opens Renovated Sky Lounge "Aurora" on December 7 Providing Customers with Spectacular Tokyo City Views from the 160 Meter High 45th Floor

TOKYO - Keio Plaza Hotel (KPH), one of Japan's most prestigious international hotels located in Shinjuku, Tokyo, is currently renovating its Sky Lounge "Aurora" to be reopened on December 7, 2016. The renovated "Aurora" will provide customers with both a stylish dining environment and panoramic views of Tokyo City from the 160 meter high 45th floor of the Keio Plaza Hotel. Moreover, our hotel's renowned and talented bartenders and chefs will prepare a wide range of delicious drinks and food items for customers to enjoy at both lunchtime (*on weekends and holidays only) and in the afternoon to late evening hours every day.

We are creating seating in the Sky Lounge "Aurora" specially designed to highlight the panoramic views of the Tokyo City skyline and to provide both Japanese and overseas visitors with lovely and memorable dining experiences. The interior of Aurora uses black and white coloring to create a simple and stylish atmosphere within the lounge. It is also accentuated by wooden screens to provide customers with opportunities to enjoy private dining space.

Steps have been taken in the renovation of the Sky Lounge "Aurora" to replicate a variety of dining atmospheres by creating different dining zones within the lounge. One of those zones, which covers 72 of the total of 174 seats with a bar counter, has been created within an area that can be closed off for private parties. In addition, some of the seating along the windows of the lounge are designed to provide couples with a romantic dining atmosphere while another zone is open for small groups to relax.

Keio Plaza Hotel bartenders, many of whom have won awards at both domestic and international bartending competitions for their superior ability, will put their skills to work in creating delicious drinks and providing the high levels of hospitality for customers to enjoy at "Aurora."

In keeping with the reputation of the Keio Plaza Hotel as Japan's first skyscraper hotel, we are spending about JPY140 million on this renovation to highlight the beautiful views from "Aurora".
